

About Certipost - "We facilitate and certify your e-communications"

Certipost develops total solutions for secure electronic document exchange and archiving.

Every day thousands of invoices, pay slips and other types of document are delivered electronically to the right person or organisation via CertiONE, the e-communication platform of Certipost. Over 60,000 companies and 520,000 individuals across Europe already are connected to the CertiONE platform. Certipost offers several formulas to fit all budgets: from a free, secure mailbox to fully automated document exchange, with back-office integration.

Certipost's digital certificates provide assurance about the identity of individuals on the internet and the authenticity of websites. With a professional certificate, business users can communicate electronically and sign documents in their professional capacity. In Belgium, Certipost is also supplier of the digital certificates on the electronic identity card.

Certipost was founded in 2002 and is a subsidiary of the Belgian Post. The company is based in Aalst and is also represented in the Netherlands.
